QUADRANT SHOP'S JOURNEY

Oliver Mendieta is an Industrial Insulator V3 (NCCER) and Energy Appraiser Certified (NIA). He started his career in Louisiana in 2012, gaining authority and high regard for safety. Over the years, he has completed various projects in different job sites, trained, supervised and witnessed the success of a number of craftsmen in his industry.

With this, Oliver felt the need to share his expertise by equipping fellow craftsmen to achieve industry standard quality and safety.

He also aims to support industrial companies in streamlining their process, ensuring field-ready craftsmen upon recruitment.

His vision is to create a support group for the insulation industry as a whole, both for craftsmen and companies alike, while bridging the gap between employment and business opportunities. He hopes to see more mechanical insulators enjoy time with their families and continuously grow together.

About

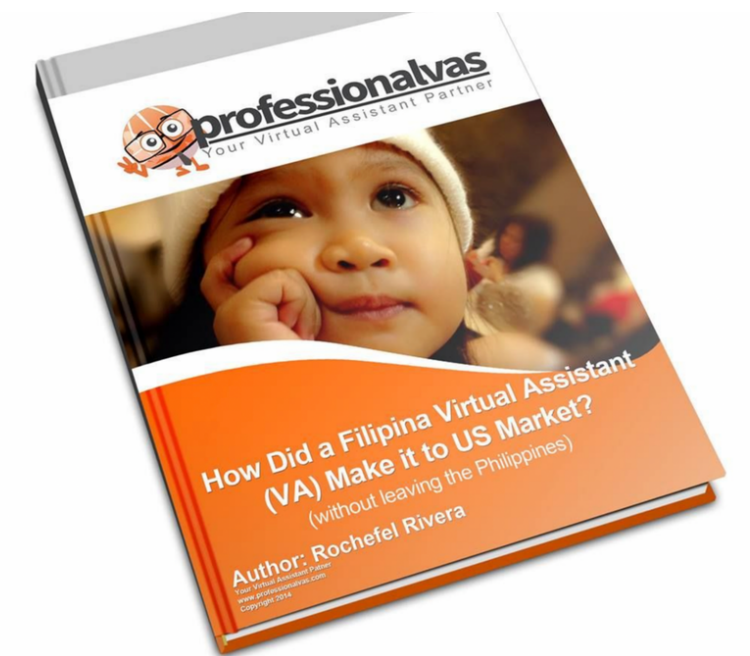

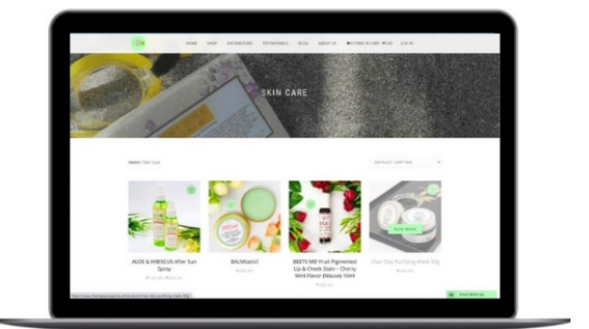

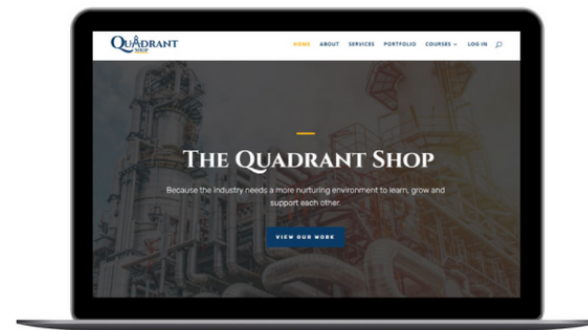

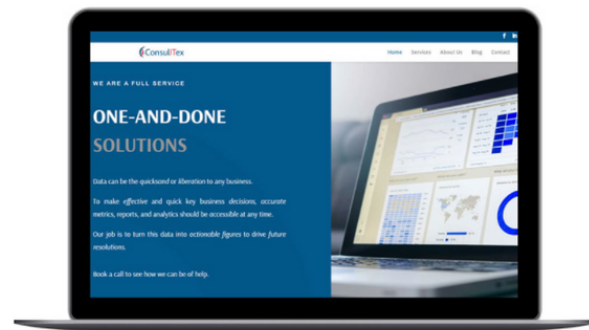

Siobhan Bermingham was born and raised in Cheltenham, England and from a young age, she's been taking acting classes and discovered her fascination with human behaviour and the way people think.

She pursued a career in theatre acting, following her creative and visionary nature. She had a clear roadmap of where she wanted to go, but just like everybody else, her dreams were crushed when she developed a back injury due to prolonged dancing.

Simple body movements were giving her tremendous pain and even had to walk with a stick just to get through the day. For someone that's been active all her life, trained to be in

I started my freelance journey this year and luckily Ma'am Roche was my Digital marketing trainer. I had zero knowledge when it comes to Social Media Marketing when I started as one of her trainees. We are currently on our 4th week of training and we still have 4 weeks left before our training will end. But, because of her guidance, I was able to secure a client already.

I'm very much thankful that Ma'am Roche was the one who trained me. Hoping that she'll empower more people in the future ❤️

First 🙌, Thank you so much for the work, time, and dedication you and your team put together to help me!! Second 🎯🎯, if you want to develop your ideas, potentials, experiences, or your dream to the next level she will be the right person to consult with and build your 🎯 fundamentals structure to get started. She builds my website and a course fluently in English and Spanish, less than two months. Third 🏠, We took my experience as a mechanical insulator to a tremendous level to help a lot of people in the industry. I'm very amazed at the amount of work we put together in a short period with great communication skills. Last, 🏆 🏆 100 I recommend her to the fullest extent that anyone can be recommended! 10/10 RATING! Thank you once again !!

Hi Ms. Roche. 😊

I woke up today with a heart full of gratitude (actually everyday naman), and I feel like wanting to say a little thanks to you for being the first person to push me through uncovering my potentials. Since I started in the online industry, I have discovered a lot of things in myself that drove me to push harder. I have learned a lot through the process, acquire new skills, face the fear of rejection and failure, and put all plans into action. From $4.5/hr (i am still with this client at $6/hr, not giving them up because of the opportunity to master marketing) and some $5/hr when I started, I am now working with higher value clients at $10 and $15 and I am even confident to bid for $20/hr. I have been able to provide comfortable living to my family since my interaction with you. I can never be thankful enough for everything that I have now which all started with your mentorship. Take care and I hope to meet you again when this COVID is gone. God bless you always and may you have more newbies to inspire. 🙏😊

Rochefel is great to work with. She has taken me on a journey that has brought me out of my comfort zone without being pushy to get me there. She is extremely flexible and can easily adapt to my work style. She is passionate and relatable which is why we clicked from the first time we spoke. If you're looking for someone passionate in developing you and someone who cares about you and your business, Rochefel is your girl!
